a teaching stint in Korea.

The unusually heavy demand on scene changes would not have been possible were it not for three Keuka College students, Barbara Strong of Yardley, Pa., Carol Rhoades of Syracuse, and Beth Johnson of Bemus Point, who are working here under the college field program. Plaudits go to the lively trio for their major contribution to the success of the play behind the scenes.

An enormous verbal bouquet goes to Gil Brand, LT director and set designer, for his cast selection, coaching, and direction, all of which are the caliber that will keep theater alive in this community.

Season tickets for LT are still available. The marvelous play which opened last night initiates the 1969-70 season and season tickets are being sold in the lobby prior to the performance.

"A Majority of One," a "must" for theater patrons, will be repeated tonight, and next Wednesday through Sunday.
