

RTPI Hosts 'Mission: Wolf'

MON OCT 29 2001

The Roger Tory Peterson Institute is again offering the chance to experience the magic of looking into the eyes of a wolf.

Today, Mission: Wolf, a non-profit wolf sanctuary in Colorado, will be making its fourth trip to the Jamestown area, sponsored by RTPI.

The program will be held at the Physical Education building on the Jamestown Community College campus, beginning at 7 p.m.

The program will be centered around an 8-year-old female gray wolf named Rami, who has traveled extensively throughout the United States and, most recently, appeared on a National Geographic television special.

Tickets will be available at the door for $3 for members, $5 for non-members or $12 for families. Presale tickets can be purchased at RTPI.

For more information, call 665-2473.