

Members

County in the early 1970s. "I consider the arts a major factor, along with an excellent library/information system, in providing a high quality of life in this beautiful rural environment," she says. White is also involved with Chautauqua Region Online.

Zabrodsky is the managing director and founder of Advanced Manufacturing Technology Inc. He earned a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering from the University of Rochester, a master's degree in materials engineering from Rutgers University and was in the post-graduate program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is president of the board of trustees of the James Prendergast Library and a board member of the Chautauqua Striders. He says, "I believe that a community's strength is in its diversity. By sharing with each other through the arts we enhance that diversity and strengthen our Five new board members have been named to the Reg Lenna Civic Center. They are Nina Gustafson, left front and Pat White. In back are Lori McGown and John Zabrodsky. Absent from the photo is David Bargar.