

Watchman Tells Of Night Attack

Cops Hunt Two Men At Lounge Factory

A night watchman at Jamestown Lounge Company, Winsor Street, told Jamestown police he was grabbed by two men as he made his rounds of the plant, late Wednesday night but that the assailants fled when he broke free.

Elias Everett, 62, of R.D. 1, Falconer, reported to police his shirt was torn in the scuffle and that he had a slight scratch on his chest. He was unable to give police any description of the attackers. The incident took place near a stairway on the west side of the building.

Mr. Everett told police the men took his clock and flashlight as they fled. He then went to the office and picked up his gun and notified a plant fireman, who called police.

Police searched the building and grounds but found no trace of the two men. Detective Earl Stafford and Lt. Robert Hale were dispatched to the scene.
