

Maddox Table Co. Makes 'Colonials' Right At Home

3/3/50
Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts, that colonial gentleman who gave his name to a still-popular type of desk, would feel right at home at the Maddox Table Company here in Jamestown.

Although the firm started business a "mere" 80 years ago, it is one of the outstanding proponents of the art of making colonial furniture that would have done the owners proud even in the days of Governor Winthrop.

Among the Maddox Table Company's products are breakfronts, knee-hole desks and Governor Winthrop desks and secretaries. The Maddox trade mark on each of these products is stamped on only after rigid inspection.

Maddox products are on display at Lucie's, Olga's and the Three Carlson Sisters.
