PUBLISHER'S NOTE.

This issue of the Jamestown, Falconer, Celoron and Lakewood Directory has been delayed unavoidably about one month beyond the usual time of publication. A few changes have been made in the arrangement from previous issues, necessary on account of the expansion of the work through the growth of the city, to conform more nearly with the directories of larger places.

The population of Jamestown according to the State Census of 1905 is 26,180.

JAMESTOWN

NEW YORK

City of Jamestown.

Jamestown, founded in 1806 by James Prendergast, incorporated as a village in 1827, and as a city in 1886, is situated on the Chadakoin river, the outlet of Chautauqua lake, in the southwestern part of Chautauqua county, about six miles from the Pennsylvania state line. The city is the metropolis of the county. It is the market town for a portion of Cattaraugus county, New York, and Warren county, Pennsylvania. It is the center of one of the wealthiest agricultural and dairying regions of New York state.

The city is connected with the principal railway systems of the country. It is located on the main line of the Erie between New York and Chicago. It is the southern terminus of the Buffalo and Southwestern division of the Erie. It is connected with the Lake Shore, Nickle Plate and Pennsylvania railroad systems by means of the Jamestown, Chautauqua & Lake Erie road which has its main offices here and its northern terminal at Westfield, 30 miles distant, and also by the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley and Pittsburg road which extends from Titusville, Pa., on the south to Dunkirk on the north.

Besides these railroads are two excellent trolley systems—the Chautauqua Traction company from Jamestown to Mayville, and a prospective extension to Westfield, and the Warren & Jamestown Street Railway company, which extends from Warren, Pa., to Jamestown.

Jamestown is a manufacturing city. Its industries are diversified to such an extent that "dull times" due to annual shut downs, the bane of many manufacturing towns, are unknown. There are nearly 200 factories in the city. The product of these factories consisting largely of woolen and worsted goods, furniture and footwear, pianos and photographic paper, is shipped to every section of the civilized globe. The estimated value of the annual output is $10,000,000, a large percentage of which is paid to labor.

The stability of the financial institutions of Jamestown is unquestioned. There are two trust companies and three banks, all of which are under wise and conservative management. It is a noteworthy fact that there has never been a bank failure in Jamestown, although surrounding towns and cities have at different times suffered disasters of this character.

Jamestown is a city of homes. A larger proportion of the population own their own homes than in any other city of the state. As a residence city Jamestown is unrivalled. Situated on the shores of Chautauqua lake 1,400 feet above the level of the sea, the atmosphere is pure and exhilarating, the high hills on which the town is buildd, furnish a natural drainage, which supplemented by a first class sewer system, and pure water contributes towards health conditions to such an extent that the city according to the monthly bulletins of the state board of health heads the list as the healthiest in the state.

Jamestown has a school system which in many respects is regarded by leading educators as a model for other cities to follow. There is a magnificent high school building and 11 branch or district schools and in the near future $100,000 will be expended for enlarging these buildings and the erection of a grammar school building.

The city owns a water plant which was purchased in 1903 for $600,000, and which under the capable management of the present board of water commissioners is paying for itself. The source of supply is artesian wells located at Levant, three miles east of the city. This supply is absolutely pure and experience has proven, inexhaustible.

Jamestown has several handsome public buildings. Classified, these buildings are: Federal building, $250,000; City hall, $85,000; James Prendergast library and art gallery, $125,000; Armory of the 13th Separate Company, N. G. S. N. Y., $50,000. Besides these buildings there are several commodious and handsome fire houses.

The W. C. A. hospital, an institution conducted by the ladies of the Woman's Christian association, is a model of its kind.

There are 25 churches, representing all of the principal denominations. Some of the church edifices would be a credit to a city twice the size of Jamestown.

The rapid growth of the city may be seen from the following figures: 1870, 5,337 population; 1880, 9,350 population; 1890, 16,038 population; 1900, 22,892 population; 1905, (state census) 26,039.

The assessed valuation of the city for the year 1905 is as follows:

Real estate.....	$10,408,260
Personal property.....	497,225
Franchises	399,510
Total	$11,304,995

The area of the city is 5,410 acres or 8.45 square miles. There are 82.3 miles of streets of which nine are paved with shale brick manufactured in the city by a local corporation.

The Journal's Jamestown Street and Block Directory.

EXPLANATION—The left side of the street is given first then the right. The directory gives the exact location of any house on any street. For instance, if you wish to find the residence of Charles M. Dow, the alphabetical directory shows you that his house(h) is 72 Allen. Turn to Allen street and you will find 72 is on the right and south side of the street, and is the last house before Foote avenue intersects.

This comprehensive system of street directory is arranged alphabetically and numerically, and is a guide to every building in the city and to the intersections of all streets.

The description of streets is given for the distance to which they are actually opened, as in some cases they have not been opened as far as laid out on the map.

Streets on which there are no buildings are not given.

By resolution of the council, Sept. 23, 1895, Steele street begins at Brooklyn square.

The council later passed a resolution extending Barrett avenue, or Barrett street, as it is commonly called, to Steele street, but as there are only four houses on the avenue below its junction with Baker street, and as those houses are numbered on Baker street, and the houses on Barrett avenue are numbered from its junction with Baker street, it has been deemed advisable in order to avoid the trouble or re-numbering all the buildings in the street to describe Barrett avenue, or street, as starting from Baker street.

Although by resolution of the council about ten years ago, Fairmount avenue was extended from the boatlanding bridge to the city limits the name Ashville avenue has been used in the directory in accordance with the street signs and the expressed wish of the people.
