Publishers' Announcement.

In presenting to the public our Directory of the infant city of Jamestown, for the year 1886, we have little to add that has not been expressed in our former issues.

The canvassing, compiling and printing of a Directory is a most difficult and complicated undertaking at best ; much more so than is generally understood by those who have never been initiated into all the details by which the work is surrounded. The publishers must depend largely on the accuracy of their canvassers for the correctness of the work, and they (the canvassers) must rely wholly upon such information as the people see fit to give. Our largely foreign population make it much more difficult than many suppose in ascertaining the manner in which names are spelled, and the proper arrangement of the same.

The publishers make no claim that the work is perfect. On the other hand they contend that a Directory cannot be made so, as many refuse to give information or give it inaccurately.

The present issue numbers four thousand copies. The publishers place a copy of the work in every house and business place in the city, receiving their remuneration from the advertisers. It is a benefit to the public at large, and we are pleased to know that our young city possesses enough far-sighted business men to reach the end attained.

This issue contains 5,046 names, which multiplied by 3 gives a population of 15,138. Multiplying by $3\frac{1}{2}$, the usual computation, swells the figures to 17,661.

Trusting the public will appreciate the great expense incurred by those who advertise—not those who promised their support and failed to give it—and that they will encourage them by liberal patronage, we remain,

Yours, very truly,

F. H. & W. A. WHITE.
