PUBLISHER'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

In taking up the task of compiling and issuing a directory for the City of Jamestown, the publisher was not blind to the fact that a generous expenditure of time, labor and money would be required to make the work complete. The result is now submitted to the public, with a confidence that it will meet the requirements of such a publication.

Many features which have never before been found in a Jamestown directory, and seldom in those of other cities, have been introduced in the work. In addition to the alphabetical list of names of residents, usually found in a city directory, will also be found the given name of the wife of each married man. Then there is a directory by streets, showing the head of each household on every street, in rotation. There is a complete church, society and lodge directory, together with a city, county and political district directory, giving the names and residences of all city, county, and district officers, and a classified business directory.

The Jamestown alphabetical list contains about 11,300 names, an increase of 1,500 over the directory issued by White Bros. in 1898. The list comprises persons eighteen years of age and over, and those younger if independently employed.

In taking up a work of this kind for the first time, mistakes have doubtless been made which it is believed it will be possible to avoid in the future. It is the intention of the publisher to issue such a work annually hereafter, if the business public desires it, when new features will be added if there is any field of information from which they can be secured. The publisher invites suggestions as to improvements or additions which will add to the usefulness of the directory.

The work is given to the public with a consciousness on the part of the publisher that there may be some defects in it, and with a promise that in future issues they will be overcome so far as it is possible to do so.

City of Jamestown.

Jamestown is situated near the southern boundary of Chautauqua county and about six miles from the Pennsylvania state line. It was founded by James Prendergast in whose honor it was named in 1815. It was incorporated as a village in 1827 and as a city in 1886. It is the largest city in New York state west of Buffalo containing a population of about 25,000. From its earliest history it has been an active manufacturing and commercial center and has the advantage of being situated in the center of one of the principal agricultural and dairying sections of New York state. It has grown rapidly in population and commercial importance within the past 30 years. In 1870 its population was 5,337; in 1880 it was 9,350; in 1890 it had increased to 16,038, and in 1892, when the last state census was taken, it was 18,627.

Jamestown is justly called the City of Homes, a larger percentage of its residents owning their homes than can be found in any other city in the state. The municipality owns a large and completely equipped electric light plant which not only provides street lights for all parts of the city, but furnishes incandescent lights for its public buildings and for business houses at remarkably low rates. It has just completed a sewer system which extends along nearly every street in the city, and its principal business streets are paved with shale brick of excellent quality which are manufactured within the corporate limits. In addition to a magnificent high school building it has 11 excellent district branch schools, and its educational system is regarded as a model among the educators of the state. There are 19 churches and several chapels within the city, where religious services are held regularly.

There are about 175 manufacturing establishments in the city, the output consisting largely of woolen and worsted goods, furniture of many kinds, and boots and shoes. The estimated value of the product of its manufactories is placed at $10,000,000 annually, a large percentage of which is paid out for labor. Its banking facilities are of the best, the financial interests of its people being taken care of by one national bank, two trust companies and one state bank. There has never been a bank failure in the city.

Jamestown is served by three great railway systems. The Erie railway runs through the heart of the city; the Jamestown & Chautauqua railway reaches into the manufacturing section, giving connection with the D. A. V. & P., a part of the great Vanderbilt railway system, at Falconer, and with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern lines at Brocton in connection with the W. N. Y. & P. railway at Mayville. The Terminal Railway company, a strictly local concern, organized for the purpose of promoting the business interests of Jamestown, will soon be built through the manufacturing section of the city, running so close to many of the leading manufacturing plants as to make the carting of freight unnecessary. This road will conflict with all three of the systems above mentioned.

As a residence city Jamestown is without a rival. Being located at the extreme southeastern end of Chautauqua lake, concededly the most attractive body of water in the United States, its people come in touch with all points of interest along the lake, which are reached by steamboat, trolley and steam cars. The healthfulness of the city is proverbial, many people coming here from different parts of the world on account of the delightful climate and exhilarating atmosphere. Its free public library, its perfectly appointed hospital, its many religious and social organizations, all lend their influence toward giving it an attractiveness and a charm that can be found nowhere else.

The Journal’s Jamestown Street and Block Directory.

EXPLANATION:—The left side of the street is given first, then the right. The directory gives the exact location of any house on any street. For instance, if you wish to find the residence of Charles M. Dow, the alphabetical directory shows you that his house (h) is 72 Allen. Turn to Allen street and you will find 72 is on the right and south side of the street, and is the last house before Foote avenue intersects.

This comprehensive system of street directory is arranged alphabetically and numerically, and is a guide to every building in the city and to the intersections of all streets.

Where numbers are omitted before names, appearing in the street directory, the names are those of occupants over the preceding or succeeding numbers.

The description of streets is given for the distance to which they are actually opened, as in some cases, they have not been opened so far as laid out on the map.

Streets on which there are no buildings are not given.

By resolution of the council, Sept. 23, 1895, Steele street begins at Brooklyn square.

Several months ago, the council passed a resolution extending Barrett avenue, or Barrett street, as it is commonly called to Steele street, but as there are only four houses on the avenue below its junction with Baker street, and as those houses are numbered on Baker street, and the houses on Barrett avenue are numbered from its junction with Baker street, it has been deemed advisable in order to avoid the trouble of re-numbering all the buildings in the street to describe Barrett avenue, or street, as starting from Baker street.

Although by resolution of the council about eight years ago, Fairmount avenue was extended from the boatlanding bridge to the city limits the name Ashville avenue has been used in the directory in accordance with the street signs and the expressed wish of the people.
